

Water Supply and Conservation Videos

The New Jersey Water Savers program has partnered with New Jersey American Water to produce a series of videos.

The first video which was filmed in fall 2009 featured experts in the field of water supply and provided a brief overview of water supply issues in New Jersey. To view the video, click here:

The Jersey Water Savers program partnered with Doble Construction to create a WaterSense certifiable house which adheres to the US EPA New Home Specifications. The house features all WaterSense or water efficient plumbing fixtures and appliances indoor, a smart irrigation system and limited lawn areas (only 40% turfgrass with a remainder 60% low water/using native plant gardens. This home will be the focus of the next two water conservation videos. These videos will focus on indoor and outdoor residential water conservation. The videos are slated to go into production late June 2010.
